Garcia Is Victorious Everywhere—
Cubans In Jamaica—Affairs
In Guatemala.

The Situation In Ecuador—The Maine Aground—Items
From All Over.

New York, July 6.—The World says: Following is a copy of a letter just received by the wife of Gen. Calixto Garcia, commanding the Cuban insurgents in the Eastern part of the island: "Havana, Cuba, May 28, 1896.—Very early this morning I was opposite to Jiguani. I sent Commander Diezguerra with his guerrillas, to drive the cattle from the suburbs and he did so under a shower of bullets from the eighteen towers which surround the town. We took all the cattle, even those they had in the slaughter-houses, 1,500 splendid head. As I had with me 500 unarmed men to take charge of them, they took them, and by this time the cattle are on their way to Holguin and Santiago districts to be distributed among the forces and the families who live in the fields. "I encamped on the spot where the town of Jiguani used to be. The enemy is completely intimidated. They do not come out of the forts for anything. They have been firing at us all day, but have only succeeded in wounding a horse. We have no body to face us. In the last few days we have had a series of victories anywhere we have met the Spaniards, defeating them and causing them many heavy losses. The entire town for the great cause is so great that the Spaniards here help us privately as much as our own countrymen."

A special to the Herald from Havana says: An important filibustering expedition has landed on the coast of the province of Pinar del Rio. According to secret advice received here, large quantities of arms, ammunition and other munitions of war were safely landed and are now in the hands of the rebels.

A special to the Herald from Kingston, Jamaica, says: The party of Cubans who recently reached Jamaica and were detained in quarantine have arrived here by train. They were received by a big crowd at the station and were cheered as they passed through the streets.

A special to the Herald from Guatemala says the disturbance in Guatemala, under the administration of General Zavala, is believed to amount to little. The government is acting vigorously in subduing the rebels. The report here is that the uprising took place in Chimalmala, Jesus Portillo being killed. There are a great many wild rumors about as to the extent of the revolution, and it is difficult to obtain at this time anything like reliable information. Government officials assure that it is only a slight disturbance and will be easily quelled. A large body of troops and artillery have been sent to the front.

Zavala, which within a month or two will be the terminus of the Guatemala Northern railway built to this city, and which is the base of supplies for several departments, is reported to be in the hands of the revolutionists, and it is also said that they have captured at this point 8,000 stands of arms, but this is doubted.

In this city everything is quiet and it is difficult to see just what the outcome will be. It is the unanimous wish of foreigners, especially Americans, that no serious disturbance may take place, and that the present administration, with Gen. Barrios at the head, will continue, for he has introduced many needed reforms, building good roads, public buildings, railroads, etc.

A special to the Herald from Philadelphia says the outfit has dismissed the man Nuri Pasha, governor of Damascus, and has ordered him to be tried by court-martial. He is accused of being responsible for the revolt of the Syrians. The Society de Navigation has refused to transport Turkish troops, unless it receives immediate payment from the government. The treasury, however, is completely empty. The situation in Crete is becoming more complicated every day. The Sultan, in spite of the opposition of the diplomatic corps, insists upon calling the Hamidie regiments to Constantinople. He has received convincing letters from members of the Young Turk party, demanding the immediate introduction of certain urgent reforms.

Reubin Pasha, governor of Constantinople, has been dismissed.

A dispatch to the Herald from Panama says: The correspondent at Guayaquil, Ecuador, intimates that it is extremely difficult to get news out of the country on account of the strict censorship which has been established by the government. It is certain, however, that the situation is very critical. This is proved by the fact that Africa, the provisional president, was compelled to abandon the seat of government and place himself at the head of the army in order to offer battle to the rapidly advancing rebels under their leader, Gen. Vega, at a moment's notice.

The Herald correspondent telegraphs that the insurgents hold no important port or town in Ecuador, but they are constantly receiving aid from the south. The Colombian authorities also shut their eyes to the many filibustering expeditions which are formed just across the border.

The Herald's correspondent at Bogota, Colombia, wires that a formidable riot occurred in the town of Cogui. Several persons were killed and more than sixty wounded.

A dispatch to the Herald from Philadelphia says: The consuls of the European powers are sending diplomatic notes, of the way in which hostilities are being conducted in Crete. The situation is such that should the ports be in the present condition, foreign men-of-war may land troops on the island.

The Armenian patriarch, however, has asked permission to remain. Foreign consuls have been invited. The Turkish authorities at Jeddah who refused an attempt of receiving no pay have deserted their arms. There are no troops available to put down the revolt. The ports, forwarding communications in Greece, Macedonia and Syria, is about to mobilize all the troops of the Redif or Landwehr.

A dispatch to the Herald from New York says: The armored cruiser Maine, commanded by Captain A. S. Crowninshield, when she came to anchor in this harbor, put out thirty fathoms of chain only. In swinging to the tide the chain caught in her anchor, causing her to drift on a reef, which made some dents in her plates, but no holes. She was dragged twenty-two feet and was anchored in thirty feet of water at the anchorage where the Colorado, the Dictator and other ships drawing twenty-three and twenty-four feet have safely anchored. Whether a court of inquiry will be convened will depend upon Secretary Herbert, but a court is usually ordered when a man-of-war suffers damage to her hull.

The Herald's correspondent in La Paz, Bolivia, telegraphs that a rebellion has broken out in Sucre. No details have been received, but it is supposed the outbreak is in the interest of Gen. Pando.

Jersey's expedition has arrived in Lima on its way back to attack the rebels in Iquitos, Peru.

A special to the Herald from Guayaquil states that Gen. Alfaro, with 500 men, joined Gen. Morales' forces in Rio Banos. The rebel general, Vega, has retreated with his forces in the direction of Guayaquil. All cable dispatches are subjected to a strict censorship.

A special to the Herald from Constantinople says the secretary of the Vilayet of Manassa have been called out in haste. Sixteen battalions will be forced.

A dispatch to the Herald from Constantinople says:

The Cretan assembly will meet in November. The Sultan's proclamation has produced an excellent impression at Canes. Its issue is a great success for Tewfik Pasha, the Turkish foreign minister.

The Porte has come to an understanding with the European cabinets with a view to pacifying Crete and putting an end to the systematic fomentation of disturbances.

Kurds, Persians and foreign Armenians are pillaging in the neighborhood of Van in Armenia. The Turkish troops are driving them toward the Russian frontier.

Salonica, July 6.—All the Turkish reserves in this district have been called out.

Last summer one of our grand children was sick with a severe bowel trouble. Our doctor's remedies had failed, then we tried Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which gave very speedy relief. We regard it as the best medicine ever put on the market for bowel complaints. Mrs. E. G. Gregory, Fredricktown, Mo. This certainly is one of the best medicines ever put on the market for dysentery, summer complaint, colic and cholera infantum in children. It never fails to give prompt relief when used in reasonable time and the plain printed directions are followed. Many mothers have expressed their sincere gratitude for the cures it has effected. ### HUNTING THE HIPPOPOTAMUS.

Hunting the hippopotamus, or male, as the Africans call him, is an amusing sport as long as the hippo doesn't take an art in the hunting. If wounded, however, he is the best beast in the world to keep away from. An American sportsman recently returned from Africa tells for the New York World his thrilling experience with a great bull hippopotamus which he had wounded.

We had worked about ten miles up the river, and I had two fair-sized cows, which the natives, following in their long dugouts, had dragged ashore on the rocky islets and were cutting up with thanksgiving and song. One boat, however, still followed, evidently in the hope of getting an entire carcass. Swinging round a high point the eddy of a disappearing make still troubled the surface.

"It was unlikely that he had heard our approach, and the chances were that he had come up to blow not far away. I told my interpreter to order the oarsmen to pull softly into the middle of the pool. The blacks needed no direction, they understood the game better than I, and their bottled-up excitement was ludicrous."

"I had a feeling that the beast would come up to the surface between the boat and the shore and was sitting ready to fire in that direction. Suddenly there was a great splash right behind me. The male, a monster bull, surged head and shoulders out of water, with the harsh, grunt-like snort peculiar to the brute. I twisted hastily around, and as I fired my foot caught in one of the thwart, destroying my aim. The explosive bullet ploughed a glancing wound through the thick folds of the neck instead of piercing the brain. The male sank, leaving a tinge of red in the eddy."

"An ejaculation of disappointment escaped me, for I supposed the great beast would hasten down the stream and be seen no more. The interpreter, knew better, however, and with eyes rolling with terror exhorted the oarsmen to make for shore. They bent to the sweeps as men who understood why there was need of haste."

The apprehension of my crew was quickly explained. On the very spot where our boat a moment before was floating the hippopotamus rose in a frightfully bad temper. He uttered a hoarse, squealing sound, suggesting more of the creaking of a heavy door than anything else. The great teeth, which will crunch stout plank to match-wood, came together with a snap. His small, wicked eyes, almost at the top of his head, were red with fury."

"He immediately caught sight of the boat and made for it. Then began a race for the shore, which was the most exciting trial of speed I ever participated in. In his first few plunges the male cut down nearly half of the twenty yards he had, but the natives bent to the oars in such agony that, although the boat was clumsy and heavy, they fairly lifted it at every stroke and we held our own. The shore was still 100 yards distant. From my place in the bow it was, of course, impossible to shoot without standing, and I very nearly went overboard in my efforts to keep my feet. Every stroke of the oars nearly jerked the craft to pieces."

"No men could stand the spurs which the blacks had started, and the infuriated hippopotamus, with mouth wide open, began to gain. The horror of his rage, the terrible strength he must have been exerting to drive his tons of flesh through the water at that high speed was really appalling. Within a dozen yards of shore, to my great surprise, I saw bottom."

The male's jaws were not three feet to the stern. The interpreter, who was steering, took a wild header far out to the right, and the oarsmen followed his example on the instant.

"The same instant the stern of the boat was reduced to toothpicks in the hippo's mouth, but his race was run. A steel-pointed explosive at a range of eighteen feet went crashing through his heavy skull. He stumbled and gave the boat a twist which threw me into the shallows. Then with a grunt and a great splash, he fell dead."

"The boat load of natives, who had remained at a safe distance, now came up, and I certainly was the greatest man in Africa for about five minutes. I had the ivory cut out and a little of the fat layer to be salted into what is known at the Cape as lake cow bacon. The beef I turned over to my admirers."—New York World.

Stomach, sometimes called waterbrash, and burning pain, distress, nausea, dyspepsia, are cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. This it accomplishes because with its wonderful power as a blood purifier, Hood's Sarsaparilla gently tones and strengthens the stomach and digestive organs, invigorates the liver, creates an appetite, gives refreshing sleep, and raises the health tone. In cases of dyspepsia and indigestion it seems to have a magic touch.

"For over 15 years I suffered from sour with severe pains across my shoulders, and great distress. I had violent hausses which would leave me very weak and faint, difficult to get my breath. These spells came oftener and more severe. I did not receive any lasting benefit from physicians, but found such happy effects from a trial of Hood's Sarsaparilla, that I took several bottles and mean to always keep it in the house. I am now able to do all my own work, which for six years I have been unable to do. My husband and son have also been greatly benefited by Hood's Sarsaparilla—for pains in the back, and after the grip. I gladly recommend this grand blood medicine." ## SUITS FOR DAMAGES.

Survivors of the Colima Disaster
Are Seeking Compensation
For Losses.

"Old Glory" Now Has Forty-Five
Stars—American News
Notes.

New York, July 6.—The survivors of the founding of the Pacific Mail steamship company's Colima and the relatives of the passengers who were lost are hopeful that their suits for damages, aggregating many hundred thousands of dollars, will be settled, but the company is making an energetic fight against paying or even compromising the claims. In fact, the company is preparing the fight by having the case brought in the United States district court in this city before Judge Brown. Its idea is to determine exactly to what extent the company is liable for the damages because of the disaster off the coast of Mexico last year, or if, indeed, it is liable at all. Considerable testimony bearing upon this point was taken at a session of the court that lasted over six hours and an adjournment was taken to the October term. Since June 21, and until today, H. Bingham, chief Stevedore of the Pacific Mail steamship company, Paul Rosseter, who was formerly engineer of the ill-fated vessel, and A. J. Sutherland, a passenger on the Colima, were in the city, having been summoned as witnesses by the company. Their affidavits were taken by Benedict & Benedict.

Chief Stevedore Bingham, just before leaving the Astor House for his home in California, said:

"The charge that the Colima was overloaded with freight and that it was through this fact that the vessel capsized is without foundation. The freight was carefully stowed under my personal supervision. The unfortunate affair was simply 'the act of God,' as they used to say in olden times, and there is no cause of action on account of it."

Paul Rosseter narrated the familiar story of the disaster and the frightful adventures of himself and others on sea and land after the Colima sank.

"But it is claimed that the Colima was a shaky boat, and that many passengers knew it," was remarked.

"Well, I was a passenger," he replied, "but I saw no indications of unusual worthiness in the vessel. If others believed it was shaky, why did they take passage?"

A. J. Sutherland said the Colima was staunch, and he did not see how any claim for damages could obtain recognition, much less satisfaction. All the claims, he felt satisfied, would be thrown out of court.

The aggregate amount of claims brought amounts to more than one million dollars.

Buffalo, N. Y., July 6.—The third annual session of the National Educational association will practically open tomorrow with the first session of the educational council of the association at the People's church, Niagara Square. Miss Amelia Hoffer, of Chicago, will preside over the kindergarten department; President Sherman, of Cornell, will take part in the sessions of the departments of secondary and higher education, and other prominent educators will officiate elsewhere.

Washington City, July 6.—For the first time on Saturday the flag of the United States was floated with 45 stars on the blue field, including the admission of Utah to the sisterhood of states. General orders issued by the war and navy departments prepared the way for the change and for several months flag-makers have been busy placing the star on the flags in stock. From economical considerations the old flags will not be retired at once, but replaced only as they are worn out in the service.

Farmville, Ind., July 6.—Solomon Maraba, a negro, was hanged here on Saturday for the murder of Mrs. Lucy Jane Pollard on June 14, 1895. On the scaffold he reiterated his claim that Mrs. Pollard was murdered by a white man. Three negro women were alleged to have been accomplices in the murder. One Mary Abernathy was sentenced to hang, but the execution was stayed by order of the court.

New York, July 6.—J. S. Bache & Co., a prominent stock and bond firm, are offering in the stock exchange $10,000 to $10,000 that McKinley will be the next President.

Newport, R. I., July 6.—The reputed engagement of Miss Virginia Fair, the California heiress, and Stewart Brice, the eldest son of Senator Calvin S. Brice, is entirely without foundation. None of the Brices are at present at Newport. An intimate friend of the family who is entirely conversant with their affairs authorizes the statement that there is no truth whatever in this reported engagement.

Stockton, Cal., July 6.—This morning William Wolff, ex-superintendent of streets, was accidentally shot by Gus Gianelli in the latter's saloon on Weber avenue. Gianelli was showing his pistol, and he removed the cartridges and placed them on the bar, and then stepped aside. In the meantime Wolff reached the weapon. Gianelli returned, mistaking the revolver was not loaded, snapped it at Wolff. The bullet entered his breast, just above the heart. Wolff cannot live.

San Francisco, July 6.—A local paper says that Ellet & Co., large ship-owners and shipping and commission merchants of New York city, will within a few weeks be operating a regular line of clipper ships around Cape Horn, and will therefore be one of the important factors in transcontinental freight lines.

Bloomington, Ill., July 6.—Vice-President Stevenson, Mrs. Stevenson and their son Lewis arrived home to spend the heated term. Mr. Stevenson spoke at the Fourth of July celebration here today.

Chicago, July 6.—Professor James F. Fox, head instructor of chemistry in Armour Institute, was overcome by the heat and died in the street yesterday before medical assistance could be summoned.

FRENCH UNIVERSITIES.

Remarkable change of methods in university education is now going on in France which will give American students advantages equal to those they now enjoy in Germany, advantages that have proved so attractive that more than a thousand Americans are now regularly enrolled in the various German and Austrian universities, while not more than 30 are found in France. And this change, which amounts almost to a revolution when the conservatism of the French people in regard to educational system is considered, is the result of a movement started by an American in the interests of American students. A little over a year ago the attention of French educators was called to the fact that of the hundreds of American students who go abroad each year to do special work in European schools, nearly all go to Germany, and a scattering few to France. Dr. Harry J. Furber, Jr., of Chicago, in a memorial presented to the French Minister of Instruction, pointed out why this state of affairs existed. The memorial attracted attention at once, and on July 6, 1895, M. Michel Breal, member of the institute and professor in the College de France, published in the Journal des Debats an article treating of the subject and commenting on Dr. Furber's memorial, and urging that steps be taken to give American students opportunities equal to those they have in Germany.

AFFAIRS IN GERMANY.

The Emperor is Continually Finding Fault With His Ministers.

His Speech Calling for More Warships Does Not Meet With Approval.

Berlin, July 6.—Rumors have been current of another cabinet crisis, and in the Reichstag the most extravagant reports were credited. But inquiries made in good quarters show that with the exception of the resignation of Baron von Bismarck, the minister of commerce, already recorded, there will be no further changes until the return of the emperor. Before the Reichstag assembles, however, there will be some ministerial changes.

His majesty is greatly annoyed at the signal parliamentary failures which the minister of war, Gen. von Schellendorf, and Dr. Bismarck, the minister of public instruction, have made during the session, and there is also a lack of harmony in the cabinet. The chancellor, Prince von Hohenlohe, is worthy of the German army. The Reichstag newspapers contrast his majesty's well-known desire for a big navy with the peaceful aspiration speech upon the same occasion. Generally, however, the press avoids the subject, and any attempts in that direction will cause severe conflicts in the Reichstag.

Li Hung Chang has been received with the greatest enthusiasm and hospitality in Germany, but departed leaving grief and disillusion behind him. Great things were hoped from his visit—a German coaling station in China, big orders to German firms, etc.—but no such orders have been given and nothing has been done. Secretary Dörring, of the Chinese statesman's staff, returning thanks on behalf of Li Hung Chang, at a recent banquet for the reception accorded to the latter, said: "The view of the emperor that no disappointment will result from his visit. The object of his journey was to promote a friendly understanding between China and Germany, and he profited by the occasion to inform himself completely regarding the capabilities of German industry. When he returns to China he will report upon all he has seen." This appears to be cold comfort for the German manufacturers.

An utterance of Li Hung Chang during his interview with Prince Bismarck is quoted in political circles. It was: "Capitl was one of those who said 'It is ordered, hence I'll do it.' Prince Ho-more general in Germany than heretofore.

CONVERSATION FOR DENTISTS.

The dental profession in Vienna has formed a novel society which proposes to instruct its members in the art of pleasing conversation, garbed by light anecdotes, says the New York Journal. The theory of this is that the patients undergoing long and difficult dental operations need to be amused and entertained.

The preamble to the call of the society recited the fact that the modern race of dentists were giving altogether too much time and attention to the scientific side of the profession and not enough to attract and interest their clients. Careful, persistent and thorough work, it went on to say, is one thing, and it is highly necessary that no operating dentist should forget that the patient in the chair has none of this kind of stimulus, nothing whatever to interest him, and is suffering besides. The real dentist should be able to do his work deftly and quickly and at the same time, by clever talk, keep his patient's mind off the operation.

Hitherto the dentists, from the moment they began their course of study, have set their attention severely on practical science and have given no time at all to the lighter side of life. The greater number of men are hard students always and they let the frivolous

HE CAPTURED ONTARIO'S HEART!

The movement thus started resulted in a Comité Franco-Américain being formed in Paris composed of the foremost educators of France, and this committee began to consider the reforms that were necessary and could be accomplished without disorganizing the machinery of higher education. An ad hoc or corresponding committee of educators in this country was formed, and in a year the work in one faculty was accomplished and well advanced in another, while in the third, that of medicine, the privileges of American students, of which they were about to be deprived, were preserved to them.

Dr. Furber arrived at New York from France a few days ago upon La Touraine and gave a Sun reporter an account in detail of the changes, at first desired for American students only, but ended by affecting the whole French student body.

It is necessary first to give an idea of the university system of France. There is first the University of France, which is composed of all the colleges and universities in the country, and which confers the higher degrees. In Paris is the Sorbonne, the University of Paris, with its five faculties, Protestant theology, law, medicine, letters and science; the College de France, composed of the great professors of the Sorbonne, in which higher and more specialized work is done, and the various special schools, such as the Ecole des Hautes Etudes and the Ecole des Sciences Politiques.

too slow and conservative for the taste of some, while the jealousy existing between Dr. Michel, the Prussian minister of finance, and Count von Posadowsky, secretary of the imperial treasury, in finance, and the enmity felt by others for Von Boetticher, the secretary of state for the interior, prevents smoothness. Prince von Hohenlohe's health is also bad, and it is known that before the emperor's departure for Kiel, the chancellor requested to be relieved of his official burdens, but the emperor declined for the time being, expressing the hope that the prince's health would improve and enable him to remain in office.

Prince Louis of Bavaria, who raised a storm in Germany by his protests at Moscow against being classed as a follower of Prince Henry of Prussia, who represented Emperor William at the coronation of the Kaiser at Kiel. It was brought about by Prince Liechtenstein, and lasted twenty minutes. His majesty was reserved and laconic, and expressed no direct criticism of Prince Louis' sensational Moscow speech. The prince, instead of remaining with his regiment at Augustsburg, as had been intended, has been ordered by his father to proceed to his Hungarian estate as a sort of mild punishment.

At the launching of the new German ironclad, Friedrich III., the emperor, while inspecting the vessel, remarked: "I hope I may yet see a German navy he/she has more confidence in his opinion, which he defends with ability and caution."

The latest phase of the duel question is that the emperor has ordered that any infringement of the imperial order of 1874, which binds officers to submit their quarrels to a court of honor before issuing challenges, shall be severely punished.

An unknown monarchist has been terrorizing the labor quarters of Berlin by stabbing children in the back with a dagger. He always manages to escape. A committee has been formed to celebrate the centenary of the birth of William I., together with the unveiling of a monument to the old emperor at Schloss-Probst. There will be military processions, fetes, public fetes for the poor, etc., in all the German cities.

She then sent me to see if I had anything that would help her. I sent her a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and the first dose relieved her. Another of our neighbors had been sick for about a week and had tried different remedies for diarrhoea, but kept getting worse. I sent him this same remedy. NOT QUEBEC ALONE.

The Ottawa Journal fittingly rebukes the Conservative papers which have raised a howl over the strong majority secured by the Liberals in Quebec. It comments as follows on the Mail and Empire's feeble heroics: "It is not true that purely to Quebec the Liberals owe their success. If the sixty-five members of Quebec be left out of account altogether, the straight Liberals who have just been elected to parliament remain in a majority over the straight Conservatives, although in last parliament they were less than half the number of their opponents. Outside of Quebec, the figures now are, Liberals 69, Conservatives 68, Independents 11. In last parliament, outside of Quebec, the figures were, Liberals 44, Conservatives 101, Independents 5. What folly it is to hint that Quebec is alone responsible for the upsetting of the Conservatives, when the Conservatives lost elsewhere in Canada on Tuesday 33 constituencies, making a gain to the Liberals of 86 votes on a division. The Journal is not speaking from the position of a Liberal paper. As was said yesterday, in the hour of Liberal triumph, the Journal's sympathies are Conservative. It was not able conscientiously to assist that party in the recent election, but, while it is determined at all times to do every party justice, to give every party fair play, it would be glad, other things equal, to see the Conservatives regaining their strength they have lost, and it fancies the best way to assist the party to regain strength is to strike for cleaner politics from the worst go. If 'the Mail and Empire' or the 'Albion' fancy they can rehabilitate their party by declaiming at once about a new 'Mercator regime,' the very term an insult to Quebec, and by reproaching Quebec for the deserved defeat which the party has sustained throughout the whole country, they are trying to play a game which will be a long while helping them back to popular confidence."

THE BRITISH VIEW.

During the election campaign Sir Charles Tupper had much to say about preferential trade and its place in the Tory platform. The leader and many of his lieutenants, including our own Col. Prior, were loud in their assertions that preferential trade and protection would work valuably well together. In this way they were insincere, for they knew that there was no chance of Great Britain consenting to differential duties while Canada continued to impose protective duties on British goods. A strong light is thrown on the insincerity of our protectionist friends by the following remarks of the Canadian Gazette, London, about the recent chambers of commerce congress:

"In what one must, we suppose, call the main topic before the congress—the commercial unity of the empire—there was also no lack of emphasis. In the presentation of the Canadian case, for the first time the subject was faced frankly and without restraint, and, if ever a solution is to be found to this difficult problem, the discussion of the past week must bring it distinctly nearer. No candid student of the debates will say that a solution is yet in sight. Mr. Chamberlain distinctly laid it down at the outset of the conference that, in his opinion, 'there is not the slightest chance that in any reasonable time this country or the parliament of this country would accept' the proposition of preferential tariffs proposed at the Ottawa conference. This proposal Mr. Chamberlain defined in this way:

"That while the colonies should be left absolutely free to impose what protective duties they please upon foreign countries and British commerce, they should be required to make a small discrimination in favor of British trade in preference, and that we should impose duties on food and raw materials from foreign countries."

"Such a proposal the colonial secretary only mentioned to discuss 'the working classes of this country would not consent to make such a revolutionary change for such an infinitesimal advantage'—and though the desire for closer bonds with the colonies was universal in the conference, the attitude of the British delegates generally must be said to confirm Mr. Chamberlain's non possumus. Yet the Canadian delegates would not take that decided 'No.' They clung to their preferential tariff idea, and with practical unanimity the colonial spokesman told Mr. Chamberlain that in it, and in no other proposal, lay the germ of any future agreement. The free trade within the empire—with British duties against foreign grain, wheat, wool, sugar, and such like products as the colonies could supply—which Mr. Chamberlain would accept, the Canadian and other colonial delegates with one voice rejected as quite impossible. To ask the colonies to do without the revenue derived from customs duties on British goods was, one Canadian delegate said, to ask them to take off their clothes and go naked. That might be so; but we can quite understand Mr. Chamberlain wishing that these able Canadian men of affairs would go beyond generalities and seriously consider the question in detail along what, as a British statesman, he declares to be the only possible line of agreement. However that may be, the congress ended in a deadlock upon this question. It was excellent as an educational effort, and perhaps it is education that the people both of the mother country and the colonies most want just now. The Canadian proposals were withdrawn and a compromise resolution was adopted, asking her majesty's government to summon an imperial conference of official representatives of each section of the empire whenever the colonies so request. Mr. Chamberlain, as a practical statesman, will probably consider that before promulgating a conference he should have reasonable ground for supposing that there is a possible basis of agreement between the mother country and the colonies. Can Canada and Australasia, statesmen, in the light of last week's debate, suggest such a basis?"

Kamloops Sentinel: Our esteemed contemporary the Victoria Colonist takes the defeat of the Conservative party in British Columbia and the Dominion generally very hard. It is saying very nasty things about its opponents and is exhibiting a querulousness that is painful. Doubtless it is very sinful that the wicked Grits should on this occasion have downed their ancient foe, the Tories, but any amount of whining will not change the result. The Colonist should follow the lead of the other Conservative papers in British Columbia; own up that it was well and soundly whipped, and stop making itself painfully ridiculous.

A correspondent writes to ask what purpose the Colonist can hope to serve by publishing all sorts of vain imaginings about the Liberal majority in general and the British Columbia Liberals in particular. We give it up; he had better ask the Colonist. There is no election contest to be influenced, just now by tying stories manufactured in the Colonist office and published under an Ottawa date line. It may be that our neighbor is relieving its feelings by the only method it finds available just now. In such case it is perhaps only right that its aberrations should be regarded with leniency; it certainly has a very heavy load of chagrin to carry.

DECISION REVERSED.

Schooners May Hunt Seal in Behring Sea Outside the Three-Mile Limit.

The Circuit Court of Appeals in San Francisco defined the boundaries of the United States in Behring sea and decided that any vessel could hunt seals in Behring sea outside of the three-mile limit. The court reversed the decision of the Alaska District Court in a case of the United States against the schooner La Nina and Alexander, which were seized and detained in 1901 for having seals on board while cruising in Behring sea. The seizures were made and cases prosecuted in the Alaska court under section 1950, which provides that "no person shall kill any other, mink, marten or fur seal or any fur bearing animal within the limits of Alaska territory or on the waters thereof."

The higher court states that no evidence was adduced on the trial to show that the seals captured were killed within three miles of the shore, and the question arises whether the holding is at a distance of more than one league from the American shore is Alaska territory or is the water thereof, or within the domain of the United States in the water of Behring sea. The domain of the United States in the sea, it is stated, has never been by the Paris Award, which says that it extends only three miles out from the shore. When the decision was made by the Alaska court the question of boundary was pending before the Paris tribunal, but at this time the conditions are different.

ONE HONEST MAN.

Dear Editor:—Please inform your readers, that if written to confidentially I will mail in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest, home cure by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigor, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak sperm parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but, thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell, and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. I promise you perfect secrecy, and as I do not wish to expose myself either, please address simply: P. O. Box 288, London, Ont.

A SIMPLE QUESTION.

To the Editor: If, as Drs. Davie and Helmecken say, no harm was done by the suspect and guard of the isolation hospital mingling with the public on election day, why are they still kept in quarantine? Will the medical gentlemen named please answer this simple question. DOCTOR.

SUSPECTS AND SUSPECTS.

To the Editor:—What is the matter with the isolation hospital? Why, sir, last winter in a case of scarlatina it was considered dangerous to speak to the patient over the telephone. But, sir, to-day, in the opinion of three of our medical men, it is perfectly safe to let suspects of a much more dangerous disease roam over the city at will—where this change? D. SPRAUGE.

A PUBLIC MEETING.

To the Editor:—Permit me to suggest that in the event of the mayor and certain members of the city council refusing to perform what is plainly and unmistakably their duty in the Duncan matter, viz: the immediate discharge of that faithless officer, a public meeting should at once be called for a settlement of the matter. The day has gone by in the history of Victoria when one-man rule or clique-rule is in full control. ONLOOKER.

INFORMATION WANTED.

To the Editor: How your reporter obtained the information about the suspects and Dr. Duncan is known best to the Times, but the explanation of Ald. Humphrey—that the reporter entered quarantine when Guard Heathorn was away—whether the correct one or not, might have occurred to the mayor when the question was asked in the council. If the guard had a right or privilege to absent himself for a day to act as a scrutineer, a reporter had certainly an equal right to visit the quarantine grounds. And this suggests the further queries: How many persons visited the hospital when the watch dog was away? Was Heathorn paid by the city for working on the 23rd? If Heathorn put on a substitute who was he and where is he now? Did Heathorn say at the poll that he was in danger of losing his job for disobeying orders? Did Duncan order the men to the poll in a hack or in the new "suspect" wagon? If in a hack, who was the driver? Has the hack been disinfected? These questions are of more importance to the public than the one about the Times source of information. Will Dr. Duncan or his apologist, the mayor, undertake to supply answers? HEALING.

VICTORIA HEALTH REGULATIONS.

To the Editor:—Whatever may be the outcome of the Duncan investigation (and it is to be hoped that the punishment to the offender will be commensurate with the offence) from its very inception to the present stage of the inquiry, it has been anything but satisfactory to the citizens at large. Their sentiments would have been more adequately voiced if, pending the right inquiry of the council and its results, that body had suspended Dr. Duncan. To isolate men as suspects of an infectious disease and after two days' isolation to liberate them for the purpose of recording their votes, is simply an outrage on humanity, for whose benefit they were so excluded. And then for Dr. Duncan in justification of his action in permitting this to say there was no danger! If this be true (and I think the general sentiment would be in the negative) why isolate the men, and keep them there for 10 or 14 days at the city's expense? We would have thought that our medical fraternity had served an excellent apprenticeship from our last visitation in this city. And then as to the guard's $5 involved in his going to act, there is so much of significance underlying this whole business that we must leave each one to his own reflections and conclusions, but obviously there is a touch of extreme between an isolation hospital (private) and a polling booth (public) that we decline to fall in with the interpretation of your contemporary. OBSERVER.

MAYOR BEAVEN IS RIGHT.

To the Editor:—While at first surprised that Mayor Beaven did not immediately suspend Dr. Duncan for disobedience of orders, I have so much faith in the mayor's judgment that I feel confident he did the right thing in tolerating the medical health officer after administering a public reprimand. Mayor Beaven is an honest and capable civic administrator and is no respecter of persons. He has been known to quarrel with his dearest friends, to co-existence with life-long enemies, for the maintenance of what he believes to be principle and the successful accomplishment of the end in view. To carry his point, he can dare public opinion and defy the blindest criticism. He does not argue unnecessarily when argument is useless or impossible, he simply acts or declines to act, as the case may be, and goes straight ahead in the what he believes to be the path of duty. He may sometimes err, but he is very often right, and I can forgive a few mistakes where the excesses have been so many. What he resolved to ally his fortunes with a self-condemned official, he must have had strong reasons for so doing. An ordinary offence by an ordinary servant might have been punished in an ordinary way; but this is not an ordinary offence, nor is the guardian of the public health an ordinary servant. It would not be in keeping with the "fitness of things"—the punishment would not have fitted the crime—had Dr. Duncan been relegated to obscurity, all at once. He was too conspicuous an example to be let off so easily, and in discerning that fact the mayor has shown an astuteness, a prudence in fact, that is simply magnificent in its profundity and immensity. Mayor Beaven resolved to punish Dr. Duncan by keeping him prominent in the public eye, a target for ridicule, the laughing-stock of his profession and a sort of general "guy" for all classes of people. To have let him sink into oblivion all at once would have been too merciful; to thus pillory him conspicuously to a high place is the acme of wisdom and justice. It is another evidence of the infallibility of Mayor Beaven, and for one I am prepared to endorse his action and support him to the end in the course he is pursuing. Before the rest is out Mayor Beaven's revenge upon the unfaithful servant will be complete, for it will have served to intensify Dr. Duncan's offence and centre upon him the contempt of honest men. JUSTICE.

THE DIFFERENCE OF A DAY.

To the Editor:—An efficient officer is one who in times of danger will obey the order of his superior officer, and will in no event disobey unless the orders are of such a nature as to make obedience a criminal offence. But he is not an efficient officer who at a critical moment, and contrary to the orders of his superior officer, removes all barriers of security against such a dreaded calamity as befell our city in 1882; and none are safe guardians of our city who will for a moment tolerate such a gross misbehavior of justice. If there was no danger in allowing a suspect and caretaker out to act as scrutineer and vote, why was it that a day or two before the election one of the firemen was positively refused even to be allowed on the grounds to paint a hydrant, and what reason did the caretaker give for so refusing? After Ald. Marchant at the meeting on Saturday had changed his resolution so as to remove the grounds objected to by the mayor, why did the caretaker not allow the majority to rule and so end a disagreeable matter, and if for no other reason than that Ald. Partridge and Wilson had absented themselves and apparently would rather be excused from doing what they know to be their duty than they been present? The letters from Drs. Davie and Helmecken are paralleled only by the doctors' certificates that were the means of getting Connolly and McGreevy out of jail, and so innocently displayed here in this city by Sir Charles Herbert Tupper. Just as if they had been put there for their health! To say the least Dr. George Duncan is not acting a smart part in forcing the board of health, who are all his friends, to pass judgment on his recent action, which he himself does not defend, but the mayor and aldermen may rest assured that the people of this city and province are not going to allow this matter to rest where it is, and such action will be taken as will demonstrate in no uncertain sound the sentiment of the public in this all-important matter. BRITISH COLUMBIAN.

RIVER DREDGING.

The first of July still finds the problem of river dredging unsolved. There are now three dredgers on the Fraser not far from Jillood, one of them built at an expense of about $40,000, one a small one, on which and in connection with it about $20,000 has been expended, and one that but little is known about, called the "Dundee" Gold Dredger. We understand that at present none of them are in operation, the big one having been again shut down, probably only temporarily. The small one has made under favorable conditions, from $70 to $100 in a day, but has not been able to work to advantage, owing to size, length of pipe, etc. At Quesselle the Fader dredger was at work for some days and washed up about $50 in all. The pump did not work satisfactorily. New machinery will be added and the machine started again, but how soon we are unable to say, as there is some litigation in prospect. The Underwood dredger, at a cost of $20,000, is a well built machine. It has been tried for a few days, but the management have found it advisable to make some change in the machinery, and Col. Underwood, the manager, is now in Chicago, expecting soon to return. The Pittsburgh company's new dredger, Mr. Young in charge, is a well and substantially built machine, and, as is the Underwood, very complete. The engines on both of these huge dredgers will easily drive them against the swift current of the Quesselle or Fraser, there being four complete engines on each and on the Pittsburgh a small electric light engine besides. The Young dredger is now about completed and will soon be working. Another dredger for the Alexander company is started at Quesselle for work on the Fraser and another projected for the Quesselle river above the Underwood house. We are informed by Col. Underwood that after they have their present dredger, "Pioneer No. 1," working successfully the company intend building three or four more. It is the same with the Pittsburgh company, if successful, or if any one of the numerous designs are made to work satisfactorily, dredgers by the score will be built for operation on the rivers of Cariboo. The estimated cost so far would be, for the six plants already put in or about completed, in the neighborhood of $150,000. The last informed one in this section think that dredging will be successfully done, but that much time and money will yet be spent in experimenting before this happy result is accomplished. B. C. It has been reported to the News-Advertiser on the most reliable information that a rare mineral strike in the shape of a gold lead has been found on Cortes Island. A gold lead has been struck at the southeastern end of the island and some samples taken have assayed $117 to the ton. Our correspondent says that many discoveries have been made on the island, but the leads could not be followed up. It is a well known fact that the lead of a miner's compass is often influenced by the presence of mineral, and such is the case on Cortes Island.—Vancouver News-Advertiser.

Mr. Robertson thinks it not unlikely that the enterprise may be extended to British Columbia, and is enquiring into the extent, price and accessibility of timber lands with that object in view. Some of these rafts are enormous structures, over 100 feet long, 25 feet deep, and 50 feet wide.

Canada and the United States on Saturday established reciprocal relations on a small scale. Many Victorians went over to Port Angeles by the steamer Islander to enjoy a delightful outing and to witness the Independence Day celebration held there. On the return voyage the Islander was fairly crowded with Port Angeles people, who availed themselves of the opportunity to spend a few hours in Victoria. Commodore Irving, who was in command of the Islander, did everything in his power to entertain the visitors. The people of Port Angeles reciprocated in this respect also, for they gave a warm welcome to those who were their guests for the day. Besides the usual display of fireworks—so dear to the heart of every Fourth of July celebrant—there was an excellent programme of sports carried out, including well contested bicycle races. The Maple Leaf baseball club of Victoria defeated the Stars of Port Angeles after a spirited contest.

The water at some places rose from 30 to 35 feet, but the residents had time to get out of danger. The freight on almost all the wharves was damaged and houses and small boats were wrecked.

Some four months ago, Charles Lang, who kept a tobacco store on Johnson street, suddenly departed from the city, leaving several mourning creditors behind. He took with him his wife and their five children. They remained for a short time in Seattle and from there drifted to San Francisco. Their life in that city was evidently not a happy one. In the Examiner of last Wednesday appears a picture of Marie Lang, the eldest daughter, who the paper goes on to state, "was deserted by her father, and neglected by a drunken mother, this 13-year-old girl was compelled to beg in order to keep her little brothers and sisters from starvation. Mrs. Lang was arrested yesterday after she had pawned her furniture to get money with which to buy whiskey." It appears that Lang opened a cigar store at 238 Pine street, taking his family to live in a little house at 917 Greenwich street. The mother took to drink and domestic rows became frequent. Mrs. Lang was frequently arrested and on one occasion was fined $40 for her disorderly conduct. Lang also took to drink and pandemonium reigned in the little home. He then left the city, taking the eldest boy, Willie, with him. Secretary Kane, of the Society for the Prevention of Vice, then took charge of the children. They will be placed in the St. Joseph Orphan Asylum.

HAVE WE LIVED BEFORE.
Theosophists and the Doctrine of Re-incarnation.

At the public lecture last Sunday evening at the Theosophical headquarters, 28 Broad street, the lecturer speaking on proofs of re-incarnation, said:

"What proofs have we that we have lived before? What evidence is there to show that we shall come back to live on this earth again? Can we bring forward sufficient proof to show that re-incarnation is not merely a theory, but a fact? I think we can. Let us try Christianity first and see what support it will give to the doctrine of re-birth. If you will go back to the records of Christianity to the first year of it, you will find that for many centuries this doctrine was taught. The men who lived near Jesus knew what the doctrine was. It was admitted by Jesus himself. He said on one occasion that Elias had already come back in the person of John, but had been destroyed by the ruler. How could Elias come back and be born again as John unless the law of nature permitted it? Origen, the greatest of the early Christian fathers, admitted this doctrine to be true. He, the greatest of them all, who wrote so much men could not read all his book, believed in it. It is said in the Christian scripture that Jesus also said so much they could not record it, and if they had the volumes could not be counted. If these teachings were not recorded, we can imagine from what He spoke and from what His early followers believed, that this doctrine of re-incarnation was taught distinctly by Him in words. 'Re-incarnation is an absolute necessity to Christianity; without it Christianity is illogical. With it, it is logical.' Another proof of re-incarnation is memory. You believe if many witnesses in a court of law testify to a fact, it is proven. Well, millions upon millions of men in the east testify that they not only believe in re-incarnation, but that they know it is true, that they remember that they were born before, that they were here before, and thousands of men in the west have said the same thing, that they not only believe it but they know it. Poets have written of it. It is a doctrine that almost all believe in their hearts. If the doctrine of immortality, which is taught by all religions, is true, how can we say that we begin to be immortal when we are born on this earth and that we were never immortal before. We cannot split the doctrine in half. All that begins in time ends in time. What which has a beginning must have an ending. If there is everlasting life ahead of us, then we must have had an eternal existence before birth. Therefore, you must accept re-incarnation or the cessation of individual existence at death."

Many other proofs were brought forward by the speaker during the evening, showing that re-incarnation was a doctrine well supported by evidence.—Com.

MELROSE STRANDED.

The Bark Melrose, and the Tug Lorne Run on the Rocks Off Sooke Bay.

Canadian-Australian Steamer Mipwera Arrives After Being Delayed by Fog.

After a number of years of successful towing, the tug Lorne, Captain Brown, met with her first mishap early this morning, when she ran on the rocks off Sooke harbor, taking her tow, the propeller American ship Melrose, with her. On Saturday evening arrangements were made for the Lorne to take out a double tow, the Melrose and the C. F. Sargent, but owing to difficulties which the captains of both vessels had with their crews this could not be done. On Friday evening two of the crew of the Sargent jumped into a small boat belonging to the ship and pulled out towards the American shore. The little steamer Mipwera was sent in pursuit and the deserters were captured near Macaulay's Point. One of them offered resistance, cutting the second mate with a knife. Both were most over-powered, however, and placed in irons on board the vessel. The Lorne then towed the Sargent alongside the Melrose, when it was found that the ship's carpenter had skipped out with one of the boats. Capt. Peterson, the master of the Melrose, desiring to make a search for the missing carpenter, would not accept a tow at that time, and the Lorne proceeded to sea with the Sargent.

In the meantime efforts made to find the missing carpenter proved fruitless, as he had made good his escape to the American side. Owing to these delays the Lorne did not get away with the Melrose until late last evening. In the darkness the tug and the Melrose were carried by the swift currents on the rocks off Sooke Bay. The Lorne floated off with the rising tide, but her efforts to pull the Melrose off were unsuccessful. As the Lorne was leaving and as the ship was not in a dangerous position, Captain Brown thought it advisable to come to Victoria to discover the extent of the injuries the tug had sustained.

Direct McHardy, who made a careful examination of the Lorne this morning, reported that she was not injured to any great extent, a battered forefoot and forward keel being the most serious damage. The Lorne left again about noon today with Diver McHardy on board. A second effort will be made to pull the Melrose off the rocks, and as wind and tide are favorable, the attempt will in all probability prove successful. If she can be successfully floated she will be brought back to Esquimalt for repairs.

The Melrose was loaded at Salt Spring Island for Robert Ward & Co., and her destination was Santa Rosalia.

The following notice to mariners has been issued by the marine department: Five beacons have recently been established by the government of Canada to mark shallow channels through sand banks at the mouth of the Fraser river and in Mud Bay, off the mainland of single sticks, and in each case are painted as buoys for similar positions would be colored. The channels marked are, as a rule, shallow, narrow and tortuous, and only suitable for navigation by small craft in charge of men with local knowledge. They should not be used except on a rising tide and near high water, and then only by vessels able to take the ground without damage. The following channels have been marked:—North fork of north arm of Fraser River; Cause Pass and Mud Bay.

DR. CHASES

The Talk of the Town!

Citizens of Victoria Have a Chance to Test the Curative Properties of Dr. Chase's Ointment

By Receiving a Free Sample From Mr. Edmanson, the Traveller for Dr. Chase's Firm, Who is at the Driard, or From Any Drug Store in the City.

It is usual for the manufacturers of many alleged remedies to go to Mexico, Texas, and other far-off sections for testimonials. The Canadian agents for Dr. Chase's Ointment do not have to go away from home for evidences of its efficacy. Local names and addresses concerning the cure of salt rheum, eczema, itching piles and all skin diseases speak for themselves. Many people have a strong objection to seeing their names in print in connection with important cures of chronic troubles. Hardly one in a thousand will allow a public reference. Hence the large number of testimonials received by Dr. Chase's Canadian agents is not only a guarantee of the efficacy of the Ointment, but also proves how generally it is used.

Mr. W. R. Tomlinson, at the Driard, representing the great road wheel "The Brantford," in speaking to our representative regarding Chase's Ointment, says you "can say for me that Dr. Chase's Ointment is a wonder for chafing of the skin and I advise all bicycle riders to use the same. It is invaluable for stout people."

PEOPLE WHO TESTIFY.

Here are a few of the latest unsolicited testimonials:

COMMERCIAL TRAVELLERS.

Wm. Golding, commercial traveller, 130 Esther street, Toronto, says: For 15 years I suffered untold misery from itching piles, sometimes called pin worms. Many and many weeks have I had to lay off the road from this trouble. I tried eight other pile ointments and so-called remedies with no permanent relief to the intense itching and stinging, which irritated by scratching would bleed and ulcerate. One box of Chase's Ointment cured me completely.

A PROMINENT LONDONER.

London, Ont.
Chase's Ointment is an invaluable remedy for itching piles and in my own case I would pay $50 a box for it if it could not be otherwise had.

JOHN PEDDICOMR,
100 Sydenham street.

HOTEL VANCOUVER, VANCOUVER.

Mr. R. H. Taaf, a prominent traveller from Winnipeg, in conversation with Dr. Chase's agent, says: I consider Dr. Chase's Ointment worth its weight in gold, and always have it in my grip when travelling.

HOTEL VANCOUVER, VANCOUVER.

Mr. T. H. Middleton, a well known traveller from Berlin, Ont., who had suffered untold agony from irritation of the skin also testifies as to the merits of Dr. Chase's Ointment.

400,000 FREE SAMPLES GIVEN AWAY IN EIGHT MONTHS.

Skeptical believers who have doubts as to the curative properties can obtain free samples from Mr. W. J. Edmanson, who is at the Driard, or from any drug store in the city.

DID NOT BELIEVE IT.

A citizen of the province who will not let his name be used, writes: "Over a year ago I was told Chase's ointment would cure itching piles, from which I was a great sufferer. I did not believe it, and although I would gladly have given $25 for a cure, did not think such a thing was possible. Three months ago its cure of a very bad case of eczema, in which intense itching and burning was marked, influenced me to try it, and less than half a box entirely cured me. Had it not been for that single case of eczema coming under my notice, I would still be a martyr to itching piles."

W. J. MacNab, confectioner, 216 Queen street west, Toronto: "Five years ago I had a severe attack of eczema, followed by blood poisoning which developed into chronic eczema. I tried several physicians and various remedies to no avail."

"I was told I might lose the use of my right leg and left arm. I was in constant misery with horrible ulcers. My friends wanted me to go to the hospital. I decided after everything else had failed to give Dr. Chase's ointment a trial first. It relieved me from the first and two boxes completely cured me."

CURED BY HALF A BOX.

Henry Profit, Zephyr, Ont.: "I was a chronic sufferer from eczema, and would lacerate my flesh by scratching while asleep. When in M. D. DeLo's drug store I was shown a box of Dr. Chase's ointment, tried it and found myself well before half the box was used."

L. Switzer, Rutherford, Ont.: "After suffering from itching piles for thirty years I happened to mention the fact in the Central drug store, at Thamesville. 'Use Dr. Chase's ointment,' said the proprietor. I took his advice. Two or three applications entirely stopped the itching, and before I had the box half used I had almost forgotten that I had ever been subject to such a pest."

F. J. Stewart, druggist, Stuyver, Ont.: "I cannot speak too highly of Dr. Chase's ointment. I sell more of it for skin diseases than any other preparation, and it gives the best of satisfaction to my customers."

HE WAS SURPRISED.

James Rogers, Tilsonburg, Oxford county, Ont.: "I have suffered for seven or eight years with itching piles; the doctors and army I cannot her find words to describe. I tried all the physicians and every known remedy to no account not even relief. In talking over my curious troubles with Mr. Chase, Thompson, our well-known druggist, he recommended Chase's Ointment. To my wonder and surprise I got relief from the second application. I firmly believe one box is sufficient to cure any case of itching piles, no matter of how long duration."

Mrs. John Broderick, Newmarket, Ont.: "For thirty years I was troubled with salt rheum. Was treated by doctors and obtained almost everything that I read of as being a cure, but they all proved failures. My case finally became so bad that it was impossible for me to do hard work and we gave up the farm and moved into town, went under a physician's treatment, who finally gave up the case and said I would never be cured. One day my son brought me in a sample box of Dr. Chase's ointment and on using it found relief and got the first night's rest I had in a long time. It stopped the itching and irritation right away. I then procured a regular-sized box, which entirely cured me."

Dr. Chase's ointment is sold in a positive guarantee to cure or money refunded. Any sufferers doubting the above testimonials please write to addresses given, and they will find facts as stated. Dr. Chase's receipt books and sample ointment and kidney liver pills sent free to any address in British Columbia by enclosing two three-cent stamps, and mentioning The Times.

A TYPICAL HUNGARIAN VILLAGE

Imagine a very broad, unpaved road, like a dusty, ploughed field, and wild gardens trailing round and over white thatched cottages. Each cottage is one storied, with Old World eaves and a verandah which runs along the whole front; the thatched roof seems to lean with all its strength upon a toy-shaped colonnade, while the creepers afford a contrast to the white-washed walls. If you walk down the road at dusk you will find at each door one of the household brushing clouds of dust away from the footpath, while long lines of clean, curly pigs are trotting swiftly homeward, and lean moorhens "bay the whispering wind" incessantly.

The men wear linen shirts and kilts. On work days the costume has the appearance of a long, dingy nightdress, tied with a leather girdle; on holidays the girdle is white and stiff, with accordion pleating, while the shirt is of dainty embroidery, and sets off an elaborate worsted waistcoat. The girls' full dress is still more picturesque owing to the harmonious blending of the brightest prints—all shades and depths of blue and red and pink; no other colors—and to the graceful fall of the short petticoats, which do not reach the ankle, and are inflated by a slight suspicion of crinoline.—Saturday Review.

South American Nervine.

A Remedy Widespread and Universal in Its Application.

Where Other Medicines Have Failed and Doctors Have

If it is the case that he who makes two blades of grass grow where only one had grown before is a benefactor of the race, what is the position to be accorded that man who by the knowledge of the laws of life and health, creates energy and strength where languor, weakness and atrophy of the latter had before prevailed? Is he also a public benefactor? Let

John Boyer, barman, of Ketchikan, Alaska, has been suffering from nervousness through years of overwork, at least he felt his case was hopeless, for the best physicians had failed to do him good. He tried Nervine, and there are his words: "I gladly say it: Nervine cured me and I can Nervine. Mrs. Rasmussen, of Orillia, wife of the collector, of the Bible Society of that town, suffered for six years from nervous prostration. Medical assistance was obtained, but no relief. She has taken six bottles of Nervine, and can truthfully say this is the one medicine that has effected a cure in my case." ## MR. HEWITT BOSTOCK

The Hero of the Yale-Cariboo Fight
Welcomed by the Victoria
Liberals.

A Magnificent Demonstration in His Honor—Speeches by Mr. Bostock and Others.

The Liberals of the city—and they include almost everyone with the exception of the "sour grapes" man on the Colquhoun staff—turned out in force on Saturday evening to welcome Mr. Hewitt Bostock, the member-elect for Yale-Cariboo. The procession was formed in front of the Times office, and headed by the marshals, Messrs. Conlin, Campbell and Wallace, marched through Fort, Government and Yates streets to the wharf. In the procession were about a score of hacks containing some of the many prominent Liberals of the city.

The Charmer, with Mr. Bostock on board, rounded Schi's point about 8:30. From the opposite side of the harbor rockets shot into the air and Finn's band struck up "See the Conquering Hero Comes." When Mr. Bostock stepped on the wharf, he was given three rousing cheers. The procession was again formed and marched along Wharf street to Johnson, along Johnson to Government, Government to Fort, down Douglas and Yates streets to the Times office. Many of those in the procession had provided themselves with brooms, which they set ablaze. Those in the carriages also provided themselves with Roman candles, rockets, etc., which they used to the best advantage. When the procession reached the Times office, Mr. Templeman stepped out on the balcony amid applause and in a few complimentary terms introduced Mr. Bostock.

Mr. Bostock was received with loud cheers. He thanked the presenters for the flattering reception given him, and then gave a short but interesting account of the Yale-Cariboo contest. The needs of the province were pointed out and Mr. Bostock believed that an honest, efficient and progressive government such as Mr. Laurier is sure to form would do much towards developing the natural resources of this as well as the other provinces of the Dominion. Mr. Bodwell being loudly called for, appeared on the balcony amidst great applause. He congratulated Mr. Bostock on his great victory—a victory which meant much to Victorians as well as to the people of Yale-Cariboo, for Mr. Bostock was as much a Victorian as he was a resident of the constituency which had just returned him.

Addresses were also delivered by Mr. Scennie, Alderman Macmillan and Alderman Archibald. Three rousing cheers for Mr. Bostock, Mr. Laurier and the Queen brought one of the most successful demonstrations ever held in the city to a close.

Mr. Bostock, the popular manager of the Mount Baker Hotel, kindly released Mr. Finn's band for the early part of the evening so as to enable them to take part in the demonstration. The band did not arrive at the hotel until ten o'clock, and consequently a number of the patrons of the popular band concerts were disappointed. Mr. Bostock exceedingly regrets this, but as the concert was advertised before arrangements for the demonstration were made, and as no other band was available, he thought it better to risk disappointing a number of his patrons in order that the band might be free to assist in making the demonstration the splendid success it undoubtedly was. Those of the audience who remained at the hotel until the band arrived were rewarded for their patience. Several pleasing selections were excellently played, and the evening at the seashore being a most delightful one, the audience went home at eleven o'clock thoroughly satisfied.

SHAWNIGAN LAKE

A Successful Picnic Held at the Lake on Saturday.

Shawnigan Lake, July 5.—The basket picnic held in the Russell grove at this place yesterday drew a large crowd from North Cowichan, and the surrounding country. A few people also came from Victoria. An interesting programme of sports had been arranged for the day, Mr. R. B. Halstead and Mr. A. McKinnon acting as judges; Mr. H. Greig as referee and Mr. Angus Bell as starter. The sports started about half past one. Each event was keenly contested, and one followed the other with promptness from start to finish. There were no delays nor dissatisfaction of any kind, a fact which not only reflects credit on the judges, referees and starters, but on the whole committee of management, who had perfected arrangements for a pleasant day's outing for a much larger crowd. This we should have had from Victoria, if the popular 75 cent excursion rate of last year had been given in this year instead of the $1.25 rate, which seems to be popular with the E. & N. people only. And why is it popular with the E. & N. railway people? No because they make any more money out of the $1.25 fare than the 75 cents to Shawnigan and return, as there were more than five tickets sold last year at 75 cents to one this year at $1.25. Then why have they not returned to the 75 cent fare? If they had had a representative mingling with the crowd they would have heard various reasons given by the people for their not having given us the 75 cent fare this summer. Some say the E. & N. Co. don't want dollars, as they have plenty of them. (Very doubtful, judging by past experience.) Others say that they are not progressive, but the general opinion seems to be that it is through an innate feeling of pure enmity, which prompts them to hold the fare up just high enough to drive the people on such occasions to other places. Now, while we have no desire to dictate to the E. & N. R. R. people what their business is or should be, yet I think we can be excused for holding to the general opinion in the face of the facts before us at present.

After the sports dancing was the order of the day. The young people tripped the light fantastic enthusiastically until after twelve o'clock, when everyone went his own way, apparently well satisfied, and thinking this is a pretty good world to live in after all.

The successful competitors in the sports were as follows: Long jump, Angus Bell, 1st; F. R. Pelkey, 2nd. Putting 17 lb stone, D. Cameron, 1st; R. Finley, 2nd. Hop step and jump, D. Barry, 1st; Joseph, 2nd. Vaulting with pole, R. McFarley, 1st; A. Bell, 2nd. Running high jump, Harrison, 1st; Barry, 2nd. Three-legged race, Joseph & W. Jones, 1st; D. Cameron & R. McFarley, 2nd. ## CAUSED BY THE FLOOD.

Freight Train Plunges Into the Fraser—Brakeman Drowned.

Vancouver, July 5.—The first fatality as the result of the high water in the Fraser river this season occurred on Friday, when a freight train laden with tea came to grief owing to the undermining of the bank. The accident occurred at about 11 o'clock on Friday night, half a mile east of the first tunnel, generally known as Farr's tunnel, the spot being four miles east of Harrison and six west of Agassiz.

The train left Vancouver with Engineer Carey and Fireman Conklin in the cab of Engine 354, Conductor Rieteen being in charge. At Mission Teddy Davidson, the victim of the fatality, exchanged places with the brakeman, who had hurt his knee. As mentioned before, the train reached the unlucky spot at about 11 o'clock. At this point the track runs alongside the river, and the bank, it appears, had been undermined, though the rails and ties remained in place. Not suspecting any danger, the train ran on, and with a crash the locomotive and eight freight cars went down into the river. The engineer and fireman jumped and escaped with a few minor injuries, but Davidson was never seen again, and is probably buried beneath the wreck.

Part of the contents of the cars will be recovered without loss, but about one half of the eight carloads is water-soaked and will be condemned. The place was made temporarily passable yesterday in time for the Atlantic express, which did not leave here until about four o'clock. There is no other trouble along either the Fraser or Thompson rivers, and it is expected that Saturday's train will reach here at 1 o'clock to-day.

New Westminster, July 5.—The water rose one inch here on Friday night, and it was noticed yesterday that much less driftwood was passing down than for several days previously. The object of the old timers do not remember any season when the annual freshet reached its extreme height after July 6th, so as that date is very close at hand, there appears to be good reason for thinking that about the high mark of the year has now been reached.

The steamer Erie took twenty tons of coal to the Cogitlam dyke pump house yesterday. The dykes are holding splendidly and the land inside is perfect. Mr. J. W. Smith, the dyke-master, says the water over the dike is a depth of nearly six feet. No break is anticipated and the settlers feel quite secure.

By the steamer Gladys, which arrived last evening from Chilliwack and way points the following additional items were received. At Chilliwack the water is up to the top of the bank. Sumas, Nicomen Island and a large portion of Dowdney are removed their stock to Sumas mountain, whilst others located on Nicomen Slough and Nicomen Island have already removed theirs to either Sumas Island or New Westminster. West's Landing and Harrison's Landing are flooded. At Langley the water is level with the landing. Numerous other points within reach of flood are also under water.

NEGROES INDIGNANT

Trouble Narrowly Averted at Rockville Because of Friday's Lynching.

Friends of the Victim Organize a Party to Revenge His Death.

Washington, July 6.—A special from Rockville, Md., dated July 5, says: The excitement caused by the lynching of the negro, Sidney Randolph, on Friday, which had almost died out, was stirred to a high pitch last night when it became rumored that the colored people in the vicinity of Galtersburg had organized a party and were coming to Rockville to lynch R. T. Buxton, father of the Buxton family, which was assaulted, and for which Randolph was lynched.

As soon as the authorities here were apprised of this rumor, steps were at once taken to prevent a recurrence of the events of Friday night. The deputy sheriff quickly informed a number of citizens that their services might be needed and then told Buxton of his danger, advising him to leave on the next train for Washington. Buxton seemed quite nervous, but protested against going to Washington. Arrivals from Galtersburg stated that a rumor of 200 men had been armed and put on guard. They informed Buxton that if he would accompany them back to Galtersburg they would guarantee to protect him. Buxton went to Galtersburg, where he will spend the night with his friends, guarded by several able-bodied men.

There is no doubt but that the negroes of the country are very indignant at the lynching of Randolph and are very open in their denunciation of the act. It is stated also that they are bitter against Buxton, claiming that he knows more about the affair than he is willing to tell.

The National Democratic Convention, to be held at Chicago, the Northwestern line will sell tickets on June 30th and July 1st at the rate of $71.50 for the round trip, this rate applies to anyone wishing to take advantage of the extreme low rates.
